RESEARCH

Welcome to Research Class! Your teachers for this class will be Mrs. Frank, the school librarian and Mrs. Frenzel, the BMS technology coordinator.

Your grade for this class is based on a point system; each section of your research is worth a specified number of points. Your final project is given a letter grade. It will weigh the heaviest on your grade.

Research Class information, web links, and handouts for all of the activities that we do in class can be found online! The BMS Homepage will have a link to the class website. Be sure that you take time to look at it and share it with your parents. We will be using this web site daily in our class.

Class Policies:

Computer User Agreements - everyone in BMS has or should have a User Agreement signed and on file. You will be held accountable for your computer use.

Restroom - Please use the restrooms that are in the cafeteria if you are excused during Research class. We like to limit this, especially for afternoon classes who are coming from lunch. We would appreciate it if this could be taken care of while you are in the cafeteria.

Fire Drill - We will leave the building by the main entrance in the case of a fire drill or other emergency that requires the building to be vacated.

Homework - Research projects are designed to be completed during class time. There is not much extra time scheduled into this nine-week class, so it is very important to stay on task while you are here. If you are absent for an extended period of time, you may find that you'll need to do some of the research on your own time.

Related Arts Team Class Rules - These are posted outside of the Computer Lab in the library. Please take time to read them.

*Reference books (encyclopedias, atlas, Lands and People, etc.) and books that are reserved for classes may not be checked out of the library. All other books are available for check out during your library time.

*Please enter and leave the library by the main doors. Do Not use the side entrance door at any time.

We hope that you will enjoy your 9 week adventure with us and we are anxious to work with you as you develop your final research project. If you should have any questions or concerns you may email us at:
